Hello and Happy Spring Everyone!

Hope this finds you well and that your Divorce Financial Planning practice is blooming. The suggested articles in this newsletter are directed more toward divorcing clients than practitioners. I thought you may find them a useful reference, as part of your prospecting and business development activities. Once I have had an initial consultation with a client, either by phone or in person, I follow up the call/meeting with an email and include an article similar to those whose links we have included. In this way, I am able to keep my name in front of them as they are interviewing other advisors. Another idea is to post some of these to your website as it saves time over having to write or continually update articles.

In this Issue.....

- A Divorcee's financial exit strategy

- Keep a Divorce from Killing your Finances
 - Don't Let Divorce Derail your Retirement
 - Divorcing? How to Make Sure your Ex Doesn't End Up with Your Assets
